

Eric W. Kurtz
Database Consulting
7 Addison Street, Arlington, MA 02476
Telephone (781) 316-1985      Fax (781) 316-1987

OBJECTIVE

Consulting projects in database application development using Microsoft Access, SQL Server, Cold Fusion, with optional links to Peachtree and Solomon accounting systems.

EXPERIENCE

1986 – Present                      Microcomputer Consulting                      Arlington, MA
Full-time database application development using MS Access. See attached list of completed projects. Author of 21 articles on advanced programming techniques in Smart Access, R:Base Today, R:View, and R:Base Exchange. Certified Microsoft Access Trainer.

1984–1986                      Bitstream, Inc.                      Cambridge MA
Controller for software manufacturer of digital type fonts. Developed computerized financial systems, order-entry system using Solomon III and R:Base.

1982–1984                      Nutritional Management, Inc.                      Boston MA
Controller for weight loss company. Developed all financial and computer systems.

1977–1982                      Harvard University                      Cambridge MA
Director of Analytic Studies, reporting to VP Finance. Institutional research, long range financial planning, information system planning and coordination. SAS, FOCUS and dBase systems for student registration, financial aid, sponsored research tracking. Supervised staff of programmers and analysts.

1966–1976                      Wellesley College                      Wellesley MA
Class Dean, 1974-76. 1966-74, Asst.-Assoc. Prof (English).

EDUCATION

1976–77                      Sloan School of Management, MIT                      Cambridge MA
Master of Science in Management, June 1977. Concentration in MIS, Planning & Control. Thesis: Information Systems Planning.

1958–66                      Yale University                      MA, PhD (English)

1953–57                      Harvard University                      BA magna cum laude, PBK